

Laboratory Associate

Manufacturing
Holliston, MA

Web Industries, a 100% employee owned company, is seeking an experienced Manufacturing Laboratory Associate to produce material for use in Contract Manufactured (CM) lateral flow (LF) tests.

Primary responsibilities for this newly created position will include:

- Making critical and non-critical reagents for use in further product manufacturing using standard operating procedures (SOPs).
- In-process titration and qualification testing of products and materials
- Write and revise SOP's for general laboratory activities and to ensure FDA and ISO 13485 compliance
- Maintain CM transfer protocols and execute manufacturing orders as part of CM transfers
- Complete routine manufacturing as required post-validation.

This position requires the candidate to perform in a moderately independent manner with a strong sense of motivation to provide the highest quality service to customers with a strict adherence to all regulatory requirements (internal, customer, and governmental). The ability to think decisively while analysing several streams of data to ensure on-time delivery without undue risks to products or patients is critical. The position requires a high level of attention to detail and good team work and communication skills.

The successful candidate's credentials must include a Bachelor's degree in life science or related field such as chemistry, biology, biochemistry or other applicable along with up to 2 years of experience in FDA/ISO 13485 regulated laboratory environment. Knowledge of FDA 21 CFR 820 and ISO 13485 requirements to manufacture in vitro diagnostic devices along with experience in lateral flow would be helpful.

We offer a competitive salary and profit sharing plan along with an excellent benefits package that includes a company- funded long term incentive plan and a comprehensive medical, dental and vision insurance plan with prescription drug plan, low employee premiums, deductibles and out of pocket costs.
